

Ms. Katherine T. Genovese
United States Marine CorpUSA

Ms. Katherine T. Genovese holds a BM from the University of Michigan, an MM from Boston University, MM and is Adjunct Faculty; she is a United States Marine Corps, Chief Warrant Officer 3.

Ms. Genovese has over nineteen years of government service including over seven years of senior leadership spanning: collaborative team building; accountability of personnel and assets; establishment of operational initiatives and policies to improve efficiency and outcomes; development, coordination, and execution of national and multinational community relations engagements.

A native of Miami, FL, Ms. Genovese saw firsthand the destruction and devastating impact cause by Hurricane Andrew in 1992. She is interested in better understanding climate change and water security to identify best practices to support communities affected by natural disasters.